

GoHealth's Statement on King v. Burwell Decision

June 25, 2015

In response to the U.S. Supreme Court's decision today in the King v. Burwell case, GoHealth is pleased that the estimated 6.4 million people who were at risk of losing financial aid for health coverage can maintain their federal subsidies. As one of the nation's top sources for subsidized health insurance under the Affordable Care Act, we recognize that many of our customers rely on federal aid to afford their monthly premium payments. Today's decision helps ensure that our current customers as well as millions of Americans nationwide can maintain their health benefits without disruption. We are pleased to continue offering federal subsidies to consumers through our Marketplace in pursuit of our mission to help individuals and families obtain the right health insurance coverage.

Clint Jones, CEO & Co-founder of GoHealth, and Brandon Cruz, President & Co-founder of GoHealth

About GoHealth:

As a leading health insurance marketplace, GoHealth's mission is to improve access to healthcare in America. Enrolling in a health insurance plan can be confusing for customers, and the seemingly small differences between plans can lead to significant out-of-pocket costs or lack of access to critical medicines and even providers. GoHealth combines cutting-edge technology, data science and deep industry expertise to match customers with the healthcare policy and carrier that is best for them. Since its inception, GoHealth has enrolled millions of people in Medicare and individual and family plans.